

The Contract with Florida

For too long, politicians in both parties have made promises to voters and then abandoned them once elected. This cannot continue. That is why I, James Thomas Fishback, am signing this Contract with Florida. Every promise below is legally binding. If I break any of them, I irrevocably forfeit my right to run for re-election as Florida Governor.

1. I commit to reject any donation from AIPAC or any organization that lobbies on behalf of a foreign nation.
2. I commit to never trade any company's stock during my time as Governor because no public official should be able to trade stocks and profit from inside information.
3. I fully oppose data centers in the State of Florida and hereby commit to never sign into law any measure that authorizes, subsidizes, or facilitates new data centers here.
4. I stand for health freedom and hereby commit to never sign into law any measure that mandates vaccines, requires masks, imposes lockdowns, or restricts the movement, worship, or livelihood of any Floridian under the guise of a public health emergency.
5. I support free speech, and hereby commit to never use the power of the Governor's office to enforce any statute that criminalizes free speech, including speech about any foreign nation.
6. I commit to defend the Second Amendment and to never sign into law any measure that restricts the right of law-abiding Floridians to keep and bear arms.
7. I believe that life begins at conception, and I commit to never sign into law any measure that expands abortion access in the State of Florida or provides funding to any abortion clinic.

I execute these commitments freely and without reservation. I declare under penalties of perjury pursuant to Florida Statute 837.02 that each commitment herein is true and correct. If I violate any of them, I permanently surrender my right to seek re-election to the Office of Governor of Florida in 2030.
